Next Thursday, November 27th, has been designated by Mayor Sharp as the official Thanksgiving for Grenada. Grenada is out of step with most of the communities in Mississippi, but is in step with the REAL Thanksgiving, which is the fourth Thursday in November. We think Mayor Sharp is 100 percent right in naming the 4th Thursday as Grenada's Thanksgiving Day.

Add to the list of proud grandmothers and grandpaws: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neely, Sr.

See where our new Senator, Wall Dosey, has been placed on the subcommittee which is framing the legislation to do something about the strike situation.

It is a great pity that the personal animus existing between JLL and FDR is endangering the whole defense effort. This country does not have unlimited time to get ready.

Anyway, we will soon see who is the man with the fuzzy spheres, John L. Lewis or Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The painters who were painting Roy Donk's hardware building last Sunday had quite a "gallery."

The old lady, who is always gallivanting about, and Carolyn will go with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerard to see "There Shall Be No Night" at Ole Moss tonight. I will have a good chance to do some mooning.

Best paragraph seen recently was from PAGES and is as follows: "Rather than sacrifice any of our 'social gains' we are told that 133,000 small businesses must close. Maybe we are lucky at that, for France, for social gains closed both big and little businesses."

We can not but remember substantially what old man Jim Shaw told us many years ago: that this Country was headed for the conditions that exist in Mexico, where a handful of people own the country and the rest of them are in peonage.

Dear Mike Conner: the next time you are through Grenada, and have time to do so, stop by to see us. We are out of the Chinch Den, and, therefore, you will not get any big bear chinchies up your breeches legs. We guarantee that.

Here Mr. Top: what has been my over-ole frens dinner's mufly and lesser franklin, rite rite away.

My wife had a negro preacher, whom I aptly call "Botch", do some work for her last Spring. The roof leaked in several places, and we had to get somebody else to repair the leaks. None of the doors were properly fitted, and we had to have that done again. If you got the windows up, you could not get them down; and if you got them down, you could not get them up. We had to get somebody to fix the windows. And, finally, we had to have the brick chimney reworked. If this preacher gets his deserts, the Devil will not wait until he dies, but will walk up the aisle to the pulpit and take him away bodily. With such leadership, is it any wonder that the negroes, as a whole, are practically without leadership? It's a pity.

Quantrell will soon be in his handsome new building. Thus Grenada Grows.

Kirk who recently underwent a successful operation on his eyes, returned to Grenada Saturday. His many friends will be glad to know that he faces full recovery of his sight.

"Miss" Essie Brown could not do without the GCW any longer, so came in and subscribed, and receives a warm welcome. However, we still lack a good deal of having the GCW go into 80 percent of the homes of Grenada county for, unfortunately for the potential readers, we expect folks to pay for our paper.

There will appear in an early issue a discussion by one of our most intelligent women of the "City Manager" form of government. That's what we want: a full discussion of the issues, for we are not wedded to ANY particular form of government. The one we have MAY be the better. In a multitude of counsel, one will find wisdom. What we wish to avoid is the postponement of the discussion until an election is impending.

Nobody would have known it was Sunday on Green Street last Sabbath, as I had Horn here cleaning up the lino-type and Roy Donk had some Okolona painters here painting the exterior of his building. Somebody thoughtfully blocked the street so that only a few people could find out what devilment Roy and I were up to.

Grenada County WPA Lunch Room

On Tuesday we visited Grenada County Lunch Room, the WPA lunch room project at the Grammar School building and were very much inspired with the program. The program is sponsored by the State Public Health Department and is indeed a very strong defense measure in the Emergency National Defense. Those in charge of feeding children of American citizens who are on relief, and children from homes who furnish an inadequate supply of food, plan accordingly to a well balanced diet. Some children pay 10c per lunch, while those who are certified pay nothing.
Tuesday was soup day and here is what each child received, a large bowl of rich, thick vegetable soup, crackers, a large size apple pie, shaped as we make our fried pies but BAKED, NOT FRIED, and milk. Then half pint of wholesome sweet milk was furnished by the Fortnightly Club. On other days a menu of assorted foods, such as spaghetti and cheese, butter beans cooked with meat stock, whole wheat bread and cocoa, and desert of very delicious peaches and a cookie, is served.

To those of you interested in future Americans, please pause when giving thanks for your own blessings, and thank God for the good the hot lunch is doing for the American man and woman of tomorrow.
In connection with the WPA Lunch Room is the gardening, canning, and storing job of the Surplus Food of America. There are two WPA gardens in Grenada at this time and each has been worked all spring and summer. The ladies who cook and serve the school lunches all winter are busy throughout the summer months canning foods from these gardens. Also foods sent in from other States where there is a surplus. This summer the Grenada group canned beautiful peaches sent in from New York and apples from Arkansas. The pantry shelves seem adequately filled to last out the school year. There is a store room at the school house and one at the agriculture building.

In Grenada County there are three WPA Lunch rooms Gore Springs, Horncomb and the City of Grenada. Grenada (City) has from 68 to 75 children at the table five days a week.

We are happy to know of this work, and sincerely congratulate the ladies in charge.

MT. NEBO NEWS

No, Mr. Editor, losing our pencil has not been the cause of our silence. 'Twas worse than that. Just give us time and we'll tell it. When we started our young manhood stage, and seeing so much injustice, sham and hypocrisy, also seeing so many of those who had, grinding down those who had not, that we decided to be an active ICONCLAST, but it took only a short while to find it a very unhealthy, and unpopular role to play, but we can still enjoy a real live GROUCH and we will tell the world the flesh and devil, that Mt. Nebo has one with all the trainings, SANS side whiskers, false teeth and sun's everything hateful. First jolt came when the big boys promised to pave 8 through Nebo and failed, leaving us high and dry, depriving us of many thrills, some of which were seeing the idle rich barge by, wearing blue and even green shoes, trick britches, monocles, and spats and seeing them hurl empty beer cans and champagne bottles at our rabbits and quail, and on top of that, we are expecting to be flooded with the dam, which would force us to go as far as Sarepta to do our trading. And on top of all above, we had the horrors of Halloween to back, and even fire prevention week, apple week and even doughnut week, which later was a greasy scream. Most ex-service men here went to towns to celebrate Armistice day. All power to the boys who have or are serving their country. Many of them are on this rainy, dreary night, tenting on some camp ground. But about the worst jolt we got was falling to get our electric line through here. Last April enough of us signed and paid for it, and still the big boys are holding out on us. We are both heartbroken and indignant. "Man's unhumanity to man, makes countless thousands mourn." Is there no balm in Gilead? are there no physicians there?

Governor Johnson Appoints Reemployment Board

Appointment has been accorded us by Governor Paul B. Johnson as members of the Re-employment Committee affiliated with the Local Selective Service Board of our area, in consistency with our assigned duties, and consideration of your moral support, of protecting the employment interest of these men in the armed forces of the United States whose names have been and will be assigned to us from time to time, the act of replacing discharged soldiers or sailors in civil life with former or new employers is one of the major fundamental blocks of National Defense since it seriously affects the morale of both the armed forces and of that section of the civilian population constituting their families and near relatives.

In attentiveness to our and your obligation to released soldiers or sailors and in contribution toward National Defense it requires serious and faithful cooperation of the entire population, civil and military, with our Committee.

We appeal, in our effort, to the public, the former employer, the new employer, all industries or private employers for your support by reinstating and/or employing these soldiers or sailors that apply to you either in person or through our channels. We ask that you work with us.

Respectfully,
Reemployment Committee,
C. W. Briscoe, Chairman,
H. H. Heath, Committeeman,
Thos. Ray Horton, Committeeman.

Friendship H. D. Club Meets

The Friendship Home Demonstration Club met last Monday with Mrs. Bluford Taylor. The president took charge. The regular procedure was followed. Order. No roll as secretary was absent. Business, a very interesting program was then rendered by club members on various helpful subjects. In the absence of Mrs. Neely, Miss Mary Clark distributed quite a few useful patterns Mrs. James Purdie, recreational leader had received one dollar from The Country Gentleman Magazine, returns from a contest held by the club in September. The club voted to make a donation of jars of fruits or vegetables for Old Ladies Home at Jackson. It was also decided to wait until next meeting to draw names for the Christmas tree, due to so many absences.

An Omission

Mrs. Sel Roane was co-hostess at the lovely rehearsal party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams, honoring the Wright-West wedding party. The bride-elect is a niece of Mrs. Roane and Mrs. Adams.

We suggest that the Camp Shelby officials make Billy Hayward, soon to be with them, the moon instructor there.

Mr. E. L. Morrow was appointed as Manager of the Grenada County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the directors of that body last night.

Mr. Morrow came here about ten years ago from Arkansas, though he is a native of the Tri-City section of northern Alabama, and was the local Ford dealer, operating as the Morrow Motor Company. Later he was an ardent worker in the effort—which proved successful—to obtain for Grenada, the Grenada Industries, Inc., a product of the White RAWI law. Mr. Morrow served as manager of this industry during construction and for several years after it began operating. Most recently he has been sales manager of the Oliver-Lilly Motor Company, dealers in Ford products. Mr. Morrow was the "spearhead" in the recent drive to carry the bond election, the proceeds of which, while repayable by the company, will be used to expand the industry mill.

The following letter from President David Dubard has been sent out to the members of the C. of C.:

"The Directors have selected Mr. E. L. Morrow to serve as Manager of the Grenada County Chamber of Commerce. As Manager his duties will include those formerly performed by the Secretary, as well as other work outlined by the Directors. Mr. Morrow has always been active in the civic affairs of Grenada and we are very confident that his work, combined with the best cooperation of all of our citizens, will add materially to the welfare of our community. Mr. Morrow assumes his duties as of this date.

"In the appointment of a Manager of our organization it is the desire of the Directors that the Chamber of Commerce be conducted as any well-organized business should be. This organization should be considered a part of every business interest in Grenada, and if each citizen will so consider this organization then the benefits that will revert to the city are unlimited. No one man, nor small group of men, can carry this work alone and the full cooperation of every citizen is urged. Mr. Morrow has stated that he is very anxious to receive suggestions and instructions from any interested parties. I take this method of requesting that you contact Mr. Morrow at any time you may have thoughts that will be beneficial to our city.

"The Chamber of Commerce office is located in the Barvin Hotel and the telephone number is 503, so please call on Mr. Morrow early and often for any service that he or this organization might be able to render."

Defense School Secured For Grenada

A Defense Training School in sheet metal and riveting for the airplane industries has been secured for Grenada. This school has been made available through the vocational department of the high school with the cooperation of the State Vocational Board and office of Education in Washington.

Plans are to offer training in airplane sheet metal and airplane riveting to equip workers to go into defense industries doing this type of work. Equipment has been secured and plans are being worked out to begin training around the first of December.

Anyone out of school and of sound physical condition may avail themselves of this training. The courses will be given by competent instructors especially trained for the aircraft work. The course will require about ten weeks to complete and present indications point to a large enrollment in the initial class. This training will be under the supervision of L. E. Norsworthy, Vocational Instructor at the high school. Anyone desiring further information in regard to applying for the training may secure details from the Grenada Branch of the Mississippi State Employment Service, Masonic Temple Building.—Contributed.

Why Should "God Bless America"?

Everywhere one goes, one hears "God Bless America" being sung. Personally we do not know why we should expect God to bless prodigal, sinful, selfish, snugg America, but we can find many reasons why we should sing and pray "God, Forgive America."

Among the reasons why we should ask God to forgive America are:

For our waste of natural resources. The valleys of this nation would be eternally fertile if man had not used the one crop system. The rolling lands would be without erosion had man not been too lazy to prepare terraces. With the enormous amount of land unfit for nothing but timber, this country would have an everlasting supply of timber, had timber been harvested instead of butchered. Our streams, now filled with snags and sandbars, would have been suitable for navigation, had not man's prodigality with timber and soil been so extreme. Had man not been so wasteful with natural resources, we would see no lands rained with erosion, no vast expanse of worthless cut-over land and no clogged streams.

For our disrespect for God's laws and for man's laws. We have permitted labor racketeers to demoralize both labor and industry; we have permitted liquor racketeers to run riot; we have permitted greater and vastly more important crimes to be committed—in the name of law—in our State and National capitals. We have permitted men and women, known to be crooked in business to occupy high places in our churches; we have permitted men and women, known to be immoral in their private lives, to "lead all the rest."

For our making human rights subservient and inferior to property rights. We pass laws permitting the drafting of mothers' sons into the army where they face death or mutilation; yet we are reluctant to draft shipyards, aircraft factories, motor plants, railroads, mines and other property essential to national defense. We permit the great industrialists to dictate the prices that the federal government, in its period of greatest emergency, SHALL pay for essential armament, but we would send to Leavenworth a soldier boy who undertook to dictate what he would receive as pay.

For living indolent, dissolute and useless lives in the midst of a world needing spiritual guidance from "the world's greatest democracy." Lots of women are too lazy to look after their own children, but turn them over to negro girls (often diseased, and more often immoral) for most of their waking hours. The majority of men, women and young men and some young women drink, smoke and gamble, either or all. The gambling spirit is more wide-spread than ever. We recall the time when the only women who drank or smoked publicly were in places where beer cost a dollar a bottle.

For fooling, frolicking and funning on the very brink of national disaster. The world is aflame with the baleful fires of war, yet our people waste their time, energy and money in prodigious amounts going to distant places to see football games; they waste their time, energy and money in the same manner and to a greater extent than they did in the heyday of prosperity in 1929.

Instead of singing "God Bless America," we should get down on our knees and ask the Almighty, "God, Forgive America."

Note: Credit for this idea is given to a sermon (which we did not hear) said to have been preached by Rev. C. S. Liles at All Saints' on Sunday. We do not undertake to quote him at all, for we do not know what he said. We merely use the idea.

Additional Note: About the only sin mentioned that the writer is not guilty of, or has not been guilty of, is that of singing "God Bless America," when he should be praying, "God, Forgive America."

The Society Editor

Nobody, of course, appreciates what a job it is for the society editor to "get up" the news of social happenings; how she must try to see that it is spelled "Smythe," not "Smith"; how she must get exactly the right shade of beige in the honoree's dress; how she must sometimes do endless phoning to find out whether it happened on Tuesday afternoon or on Wednesday evening; how meticulous she must be in seeing that the linotypist does not slip in an "a" in her account of the Fortnightly Club.

Yet, in spite of the care she takes in properly spelling the names, properly describing the costumes and properly executing the other details, the society editor would be first to admit that she fails to obtain much more news than she gets, and she often gets things "mixed up."

But, for OUR society editor, we will say that nobody tries harder to get things written RIGHT; and that NOBODY in Grenada EVER got up as MUCH news as she does.

They Come, And They Go

The same issue of the Commercial Appeal which contained the article concerning the death of our friend and neighbor, Editor Wilbur Kennedy of The Panolian (Batesville), contained the news that Erle Johnston, former Grenada boy, had bought an interest in and had become editor of The Times at Forest, Mississippi.

Wilbur Kennedy was a fine old gentleman, quiet, unassuming, yet always faithful to the trust which was his as editor of the "home town" paper. That he enjoyed the confidence of the people of Panola county speaks well for his long service as their editor.

Erle Johnston first worked on the high school paper in Grenada, then with a local newspaper, serving as correspondent of the Commercial Appeal, then went to Jackson where he secured a connection with the Clarion-Ledger. With that daily newspaper he advanced quite a few notches in quite a short time. But his lifelong ambition was to be the "big boy" of a country newspaper, and now his ambition has been realized. We wish him well.

Yes, they come and they go.

Will There Be War With Japan

(By HERBERT B. ALLEN)

As the special envoy of the Japanese government approaches Washington, the question of whether there will be war with Japan is uppermost in the minds of the American people.

Japan's position in the world has changed rapidly in the past few months and a great deal of wind has been taken out of Nippon's sails. The brave blasts now coming out of Tokyo give the impression of whistling in the dark. But it has been economic and financial measures and not naval or military pressure that have brought about this change in Japan's status.

The great distance between Japan and the British and American naval bases has enabled Japan to run riot in the Orient for many years. The Japanese army and navy are stronger now than at any time in the past, and the distance across the Pacific is just as great—but Japan nevertheless is at the end of her rope.

For Japan's war machine must have copper and cotton, scrap iron and steel, petroleum and aluminum—and above all, the Japanese must have FOREIGN TRADE to sustain their national existence. And Japan's great customers are the United States and the British Empire.

Without the trade of the Americans and the British, the modern Japanese industrial machine cannot exist, for millions of Japanese are engaged in manufacturing industries and in the production of silk for which there is no market outside the English speaking world.

China is a nation great in numbers, but poor in buying powers. The textile industry is one of Japan's most important export fields—and China is one of the world's great cotton growing countries, and she manufactures her own textiles in Chinese mills. The Japanese heaven is not in China!

Japan's attempt to conquer the Chinese has brought about great changes in China which normal life would not have produced, in many hundreds of years. It is very possible that history will eventually record the conquest of Japan by the very Chinese power which Japan has herself produced among the people of the Celestial Empire. And that would indeed be poetic justice. The fruitless endeavor to subjugate the Chinese may well be the turning point in the history of modern Japan.

China has succeeded in maintaining her status as a free and sovereign nation in spite of the Japanese and American industrial systems. I include the American industrial system, because the Japanese could never have attempted the conquest of China without the aid of machine tools, aircraft, mechanical equipment and raw materials such as cotton, copper and petroleum from this country. The shells which blasted the Chinese out of their most valuable lands were manufactured from American scrap iron and steel—much of it from obsolete steel rails removed from the streets of American cities when busses supplanted electric street railways.

The Japanese effort not only failed of success, but it has weakened them to an extreme degree. Japan has only the power of a strong bluff left, a bluff backed by a fine army and navy left without adequate stores of military and naval supplies.

That isolation across the vast reaches of the Pacific Ocean that enabled the Japanese to take so arrogant a line, is now the chief obstacle in her path. She is isolated from the Axis powers completely. The same vast distances now separate Japan from iron and steel scrap, copper and cotton, petroleum and aluminum—and from her great customers, the Americans and the British. She is indeed at the end of her rope. But Japan is still dangerous!

Finally, the Dutch Indies have warned Japan that if they are attacked, their oil wells will be fired and destroyed. So what has Japan to gain now by a desperate effort in the direction of the Malay Peninsula (Singapore) Sumatra, Java and Borneo?

When you are going somewhere and you run out of gas, that's all there is to it—you are just out of gas. The same applies to nations as it does to individuals. Japan is out of gas, and out of many other vital war materials. In this country we follow the usual farce of calling these commodities "defense materials"—but their real name is the munitions of WAR!

That is Japan's position today. It is fortunate for the world that such is the case, for the Japanese are a brave and formidable foe. They have a splendid army and a fine navy which they operate with exceptional skill. Only in the air are the Japanese weak. All Orientals are by nature lacking in the element which goes into the making of aviation pilots. They lack initiative in that degree necessary for military combat service.

The American people greatly underestimate the Japanese nation as an enemy. I studied the Japanese language and had many opportunities to learn their characteristics. I think that all persons familiar with the Orient hold the Japanese people in great respect—and in any event, history speaks for itself where their valor and ability are concerned.

There is one very dangerous condition existing in Japan which may effect the course of history during the next few months. The Japanese people have no more voice in their affairs than do the Nazis. Directing Japanese course are men who have everything to lose when revolution overtakes Japan, as it surely will in the near future. They may choose to take a great gamble against America, in the spirit that Hitler took his great gamble against Russia when the British Navy maintained its strangle hold on Germany's naval operations.

These are the conditions affecting Japan as I understand them. The only reason I can see for Japan entering a war with the United States would be the hatred of the Japanese militarists and aristocrats for democratic America. That hatred is very real and very active—but to launch a Japanese-American war would be to sign their own death warrants.

So when all the factors are taken into consideration I feel confident in predicting that there will not be a war involving Japan and the United States, no matter what development there may be in either Europe or Asia.

G. H. S. 100 Percent

Congratulations are freely extended to Grenada City Schools for one hundred percent cooperation in the formation of a Junior Red Cross Chapter.

Such a record, if followed by other high schools in the State and Nation, would give greatest impetus to the progress of the important work laid out for this group.

Me and the GOW.

The school trust and other treasury gutters are sharpening their gutting knives to get that surplus from the State Treasury.

Better get that new tag this week, otherwise you will not only be fined but will be forced to buy a new tag anyway, with penalty added.

Not That We Had Anything To Do With It . . .

Not that we had anything to do with it, we can not help but note that the federal government is about to pass legislation enabling the president to draft mines, factories and other PROPERTY, just as the government heretofore delegated to itself the right to draft MEN.

Not that we had anything to do with it, we can not help but note that there appears in this issue an article coming from the high school authorities setting forth the plan of vocational education, not of students (who for the time being will still be denied the right to learn anything for their hands to do) but for those out of school.

Not that we had anything to do with it, we can not help but note that the formation of a committee looking to the drawing and circulating of the proper petition and the taking of the other steps necessary to bring the commission form of government officially before the citizens of the City of Grenada is in progress.

Not that we had anything to do with it, we can not help but note that strong sentiment had crystallized for the extension of No. 8 State Highway from Grenada to Minter City, and that important work is already being planned to secure the paving of the gap.

Not that we had anything to do with it . . .

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

The Methodist brethren's armistice with the Devil was concluded last Sunday when the new preacher, Rev. W. L. Robinson preached to a large audience both morning and evening. The other Protestant churches "turned out" Sunday evening.

Interest Mounting

Interest, dormant since the subject was brought up about two years ago, in the proposal to change the form of government in the City of Grenada is mounting, if we can take as a criterion what we hear.

Some of those who toted the gaze in the last battle are taking up the gaze again. The formation of an important committee, whose members are willing to work, is imminent.

At this time, when the present administration is in mid-term, the matter can be discussed, and later voted upon without personalities entering into the matter. Heretofore, those sponsoring the change in the form of government, while they may have been (and probably were) absolutely without bias toward ANY officer, laid themselves liable to the charge of being "after" someone, for they brought up the matter at or about the time of the city election.

Contrary to what anyone may think, we are not "after" anyone. We purposely brought up the matter at a time when nobody could have grounds for saying that. Talk of withdrawing the city printing from us is just sounding brass and tinkling cymbals, for we do not get any of it anyway, tho we do share with other newspapers in Grenada the publishing of the minutes.

An announcement of a "working" committee will probably be made soon.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

Whereas at a meeting of the representative Citizens of Grenada, they expressed their desire to observe the 27th of November as Thanksgiving Day.

Whereas in these days of all days, when the Foreign portion of the world is torn by strife and war, we as a Nation and a people should be thankful that we live in a Christian land, where God is honored, where freedom reigns and that we are not molested by any Dictator, and

Whereas that we are also blessed with Christian Leaders, who look to our Heavenly Father to lead our people out of these perilous times.

Now, therefore, I, R. W. Sharp, Mayor of the City of Grenada, do proclaim Thursday, the 27th day of November as Thanksgiving Day, and let us be thankful.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto affixed my signature and the seal of the City of Grenada, this 12th day of November, 1941.

Miss Mary Louise West Wedded To Ensign H. Linden Wright In Beautiful Church Wedding Tuesday, November 18th

In a beautiful and impressive taper lighted ceremony Tuesday afternoon, November Eighteenth, at the stately First Presbyterian Church of Grenada, Miss Mary Louise West, beautiful and talented daughter of Mrs. Willie Young West, became the bride of Mr. H. Linden Wright, Ensign U. S. Naval Reserve, the son of Mr. J. H. Wright, of Evansville, Indiana.

The vows were solemnized at five o'clock with the bride's uncle, Dr. John W. Young, Presbyterian Minister at Belhaven College, Jackson, Mississippi, officiating in the double ring ceremony.

A white background across the entire rostrum including the pulpit and the taper lighted left railing, furnished an effective contrast for the beautiful central bouquet of white chrysanthemums interspersed with Oregon fern, and the many exquisite pale yellow mums which were used profusely and formed a floral background of unusual beauty for the bridal party. Banking the bases of tall tiered candelabra which held glowing white tapers were clusters of effect of Magnolia leaves. Princess baskets held the lovely yellow chrysanthemums, and lighted white tapers also glowed from an arrangement of matching groups candelabra placed at both sides of the rostrum.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. C. H. Calhoun, organist and Mr. Dishongh, of Memphis, vocalist. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Calhoun played an organ solo, "Traumeri." This was followed by Mr. Dishongh's solo, "Because." The bride's entrance was softly played and the solo, "At Dawning" was sung. During the ceremony MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was played. The traditional Wedding Marches of Lohengrin and Mendelssohn were used.

The bride entered on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Harry Adams. She wore an exquisite Skinner's satin gown, of bridal blush, the luster of a perfect pearl. The bodice had the new rounded drop-shoulder effect of marquisette emphasized by a band of exquisite hand-made Venetian lace, long shirred sleeves which formed in thin lily points over the hands and a shirred bodice from which the long full skirt ended in a handsome circular train. Her bridal veil of illusion was held in place by a band of Venetian lace with small clusters of orange blossoms and fell in graceful folds to floor, tip length in front to graduating length following the folds of the skirt. She carried an unusually lovely bouquet of white, fast-faded of gardenias, stephanotis and white orchids. One brilliant orchid centered the bouquet. A white satin ribbon bow completed the bouquet.

Miss Martha Bess Brown, maid of honor wore powder blue velvet with sweetheart neck line, short sleeves, fitted bodice and graceful full skirt. Her bouquet was of gold mums tied with yellow ribbon.

Miss Annie Anderson and Miss Mary Jane Young, cousin of the bride, wore identical models of gold taffeta made with graceful skirts, the bodice and peplum trimmed with double rows of ruffles of same material. Their girdles were of crushed green velvet. They carried bronze California chrysanthemums tied with long flowing gold ribbons.

Mr. Wright was attended by Mr. Al Whitman, of Memphis. The groom wore the dress uniform of a Naval Reserve officer, Navy blue with gold braid.

Groomsmen were Messrs. Ben Adams, Jr., John Young, Jr., Jackson; Dr. Alfred Pazo, Memphis, and Mr. Ferd Earheart, of Memphis. The groomsmen served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon costume of crushed rose velvet with matching costume hat of tulle crushed rose color. Her gloves were white kid in three quarter length style.

The beautiful bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Willie Young West and is a granddaughter of the late and beloved Dr. J. W. Young, of Grenada. After graduating from high school she attended Southwestern Presbyterian College in Memphis for two years and received her B. A. degree at Belhaven College. She graduated in voice at Belhaven College having previously studied under Jerome Robinson in Memphis.

Mr. Wright received his education at Southwestern College and at Teachers State College, Memphis, and at Northwestern University, Chicago. He enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve a year ago and is now Ensign U. S. N. R., stationed at New Orleans.

The groom's sister, Mrs. J. H. Wright of Memphis, wore a chic ensemble of autumn tan with hat of brown, fashioned of tiny wings. She was escorted by her husband, Mr. J. H. Wright and their father, Mr. J. H. Wright, Sr. Miss Jane Young chose a chic ensemble of lovely green wool with costume hat adorned with tiny plumes. Mrs. Ben Adams was handsomely attired in brown cloth with fur trim and costume hat. Mrs. Harry Adams was dressed in chic black suit and hat; Mrs. Sel Rame wore a lovely black dress with gold costume jewelry trim and Mrs. John Young was handsome in powder blue wool dress with becoming black hat.

For traveling Mrs. Wright wore a two-piece costume suit of autumn tan with large hat of soft brown felt. Her accessories were brown. They were guests of friends at a beautifully planned dinner party at Hotel Peabody in Memphis Tuesday evening and are now spending their honeymoon in an unmanicured city. They will reside in New Orleans.

DINNER PARTY FOLLOWED BY REHEARSAL PARTY ON MONDAY EVENING

The handsome home of Miss Jane Young was the scene of a charmingly planned dinner party on Monday, the eve of the Wright-West wedding, when the bride party and members of the family were guests at dinner between the hours of six and seven-thirty. They later went to the church for rehearsal.

The home, which is very charmingly arranged, was never more lovely than on this occasion when lovely autumn flowers in rich hues were used profusely in the reception and living rooms, and bouquets of snowy white chrysanthemums with greenery and lighted tapers enhanced the spacious dining room where three tables were arranged for the serving of a four course dinner. The truly rich shades of autumn leaves and darker toned chrysanthemums used in the reception rooms accentuated the very charming white, silver and green motif in the dining room. Placed on the mantle and buffet and flanked by white tapers in silver holders were large bouquets of snowy chrysanthemums. The tables were draped with gleaming white satin damask. The large table where the bride party was seated, was centered by a silver centerpiece filled with white chrysanthemums interspersed with baby's breath and fern. The soft glow from numerous white tapers was reflected in the beauty of the silver service and the mirror reflector on which the centerpiece was placed. A shower effect of white satin ribbon and ivy, in which were caught numerous single blossoms of white mums, interspersed with tiny wisps of ferns fell gracefully from the chandelier; the beauty of this lovely arrangement was also reflected in the mirror centering the table. Nut cups of white crepe, with sprays of lilies of the valley tied to each handle with tiny white ribbons, served as supports for the place cards.

Miss Young received her guests wearing a lovely dress of black crepe. Her sister, Mrs. West, was attired in a dinner dress of wine velvet. Miss West chose a dinner dress of taffeta, featuring a silhouette bodice of black with bias cut skirt of Roman stripe. Miss Young's guests were, Miss West and Mr. Wright, Miss Martha Bess Brown and Mr. Al Whitman, of Memphis; Mr. J. B. Dishongh, Memphis; Mrs. Willie Y. West; Mr. Ben Adams, Jr., Miss Mary Jane West, of Jackson; Dr. Alfred Pazo, Memphis; Miss Annie Anderson, Mr. Ferd Earheart, Memphis; Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Sel Rame.

Chrysanthemums in rose tones and bronze were arranged in the reception hall and soft toned yellow mums were used in the charming living room and all white mums and ferns were used in the dining room. White tapers were arranged in silver holders and placed at points of vantage in the dining room. The dining table, draped with a lovely lace cloth, was centered by a silver bowl filled with white mums and flanked by silver candle holders holding lighted tapers. Silver dishes held pastel hued minis and toasted nuts. D. A. R. LUNCHEON

The charming country home, the Triangle Farm, of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Webb this week, Miss Martha Webb will visit her parents this week-end. She is now employed as one of the office force of Mississippi State Employment Service, at Tupelo.

A huge log fire, whose flames, dusted with chemicals, rivaled in brightness the tints of autumn leaves and flowers which were used in decorating, was the center around which the jolly group gathered.

The meeting was opened with the D. A. R. ritual, and a short business session, led by Mrs. Turner Merrick, of Greenwood, and Mrs. Alexander, followed. The real business of the day, with Miss Eloise Wilkins as chairman, was the making of toys and puzzles for the Crippled Children's Hospital in Jackson.

At one o'clock the hostesses served a three-course luncheon, with chicken gumbo as one of its most delicious dishes. Brightly colored pottery and cloths carried out the gala color scheme. Individual packages of matches, personalized with name, date and place marked each guest's place.

The group will meet in Greenwood December 9 for a luncheon at which Mrs. W. E. Scott, Mrs. F. R. McGee, Jr., and Mrs. W. E. Denman will be hostesses. That day the project will be Red Cross work. Only one meeting a month of the joint Greenwood and Grenada groups is held. Last month Mrs. Merrick entertained with a beautiful luncheon at her home in Greenwood. These young ladies feel that they are most successfully combining good times with the accomplishment of truly worthwhile projects.—Contributed.

Your Roving Observer

(Herbert B. Allen)

When you read the statement of that suave old Southern gentleman, Cordell Hull, our Secretary of State, calling on Finland to cease military action against Russia, you probably did not read into it the same meaning that Finlanders saw in it.

On the face of it, it really was a sensible request, from our point of view. But what of Finland? Well, the Finns have a bear by the tail—and no doubt they would be a great deal more happy to let go of that bear, than we would be to hear that they had succeeded in doing it. The bear they have by the tail is not Stalin—but Hitler.

Remember that German troops were in Finland for some months before the Finns attacked Russia; and that the possibility of such a development as has now been reached was foreseen by the Germans. The Germans have actual control in Finland, just as they have in other occupied countries. Finland is no longer a sovereign state, able to come to terms with Russia if she desired to do so. Finland's economic, political and military destiny is now completely in German hands. Germany alone can assure the Finns food to survive the winter. No country but Germany is in position to trade with Finland, to enable the Finns to survive economically for the duration of the war.

Finland is a country of lakes, rivers and forests, and is almost as much dependent on her export of wood products and newsprint paper as Mississippi is dependent on cotton. So the position of Finland is a most uncomfortable one. No nation in Europe is situated in a more difficult geographical spot than Finland. As is the case with Turkey, Finland is not in a position to choose either her own course, or to determine whether she shall, or shall not, be at war.

The significance of Secretary Hull's statement with regard to Finland, is to serve notice on the Finns of America's intention to land war materials in Russia's ports on the Arctic Ocean. To the Germans the usefulness of Finland is the strategic location of that country as a route to attack England; and to choke off shipments to Russia through the Arctic ports, which are just east of Finland's northern boundary.

Taken together, the statements from our government relating to two places on the globe, half way around the world from each other, namely Finland's attack on Russia, and the evacuation of our Marines from Shanghai, China, are among the most important of the many grave items in the world news of recent months. They forecast definitely the policy of the United States government.

There will be three important services of the American nation that will soon be actively engaged in real warfare. They are the United States Navy, the United States Air Corps and the United States Merchant Marine. Young men who REALLY wish to serve old Uncle Sam may do so now by getting into one of these three services.

If you were driving down U. S. 51 to Jackson and suddenly came to large road signs reading "HORSES HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY," what would you think of that idea? Such signs line the highway just east of Junction City, Kansas, which incidentally is the geographical center of the United States.

And in addition to that distinction, Junction City boasts that Regular Army post of Fort Riley, which is the largest cavalry training center in the country. Adjoining Fort Riley is the cantonment of Camp Funston, and the highway passes through these two military reservations for nearly six miles.

Cavalry units are moving over this highway all day and this makes one way traffic necessary. The cavalry ride in columns two abreast. The soldiers riding at the front and rear of the column carry red flags with which to signal automobile traffic and to signal to each other.

In a skillful manner they maintain automobile moving in both directions on their left flank, while they remain in motion at all times. If you were in a hurry when you happened to be driving across the state of Kansas, you would remember the signs, "HORSES HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY." For at Fort Riley and Camp Funston the horses once more is having his day.

And speaking of riding across Kansas, that is really a good day's march for most drivers. Our speedometer showed that we covered five hundred and fourteen miles crossing that state. That is twenty three percent of the distance between Los Angeles and Chicago.

From north to south in Illinois is also a long ride. From Grenada to downtown Chicago is six hundred and sixty miles. Four hundred miles, or sixty percent of the entire distance, are in Illinois, between Chicago and Cairo.

These lines are written in a philosophical mood on the night of November 11th. An entire mechanized division of soldiers paraded the streets of Chicago this afternoon, and the veterans' organizations have celebrated tonight. But for me—the comfort of my arm chair, a pack of Tareyton cigarettes, and reveries of days long past.

I watched the celebration of the first and second armistice days, the first in London and the second in Chicago—but none since then. No person who was present at the celebration of the first Armistice Day in London will ever forget the scene. It was the only time in my life that I ever saw a vast throng where there were no dry eyes.

During church parade on the western front in 1915 and 1918, held before we were to make advances on the German lines which we knew in advance would take a toll of hundreds of thousands of British casualties, due to our lack of equipment and artillery, it was a most solemn occasion as we realized that so many among us would never parade again. Particularly do I recall the strange numbness within me personally when the famous old hymn, "Lead Kindly Light, was sung. It always seemed to be a part of those services.

But around the Cenotaph in London were three or four millions of persons who had lost many near and dear friends and relatives. They were not very far away, and memories were still vivid. That day was the most solemn and impressive that I have lived.

On the second anniversary I was in Chicago—and what a difference there was in its observance. Perhaps that difference was natural when the circumstances are considered. In the small compass of the British Isles, among the fifty millions of Britons the world war brought losses of over one million and one hundred thousand in KILLED alone—whereas among the one hundred and twenty millions in the United States the number of American soldiers killed in action, and who died of their wounds, was thirty seven thousand. Yes, I think Armistice Day is a very solemn day indeed!

How much attention do you pay to the beauties of nature which come to your notice? There is scarcely a district in the world which does not give evidence of something beautiful. It may be the quiet, serene beauty of a cotton field in early spring, when the rows of young plants, in their military precision, give such ordered beauty to the fields of the Southland. Or it may be the wild, flashing, crashing grandeur of an electric storm, manifesting the sterner side of old Mother Nature.

When I was in Grenada I remember that the most picturesque time and place, and the most historically romantic too, incidentally, was sunset toward the delta, stretching languidly across Ole Man River, from atop Uncle Will Hoffa's hill to the west of Grenada. Although I watched many days fade out from that point of vantage, only Uncle Will, of all Grenadians, took pleasure in watching the magnificent gold and green of that beautiful scene at twilight. Uncle Will had a poetic sense of the magnificence surrounding us on that old Rebel Hilltop. That old Hilltop was always a reminder of men of higher spirit and sterner stuff than those who followed them. I believe the old Confederates would feel ill at ease in the Mississippi of today with all of its indifference and shiftlessness. The old Rebels had a custom of standing on their own feet too—a lost art among many along the Yalobusha.

Passing through a number of Indian reservations recently in Arizona and New Mexico, brings to mind the fact that certain things that we commonly associate with American Indians were introduced among them by the early white settlers.

When I was a boy I can remember the tremors that ran down my spine when I read of the red men scalping their white victims. Near by boyhood home in Canada province of Ontario there was a reservation of which resided some of the most warlike tribes of early frontier days, including the Iroquois. In fact, the name of our largest hotel was "The Iroquois." Perhaps that seemed to bring those savage days closer to me.

Well the practice of scalping had its origin among the English settlers in New England. A bounty of two dollars was sometimes offered for a dead Indian. And the white man who produced a scalp collected two bucks. That was where the Indian learned the "art."

We also associate bead work with the Indians. And most primitive people love beads. In remote parts of the Belgian Congo, and in Kenya and Tanganyika, in Central Africa, I have come across very attractive looking bead work.

But the beads were glass beads, as are those of the Indians in this country. And that means that the white man brought them in to use in trading for native products. There was no bead work known to the American Indians until Columbus and the Spaniards arrived with European beads.

My Column

V

Today I am writing from the 106th Medical Regiment's field hospital. It's rather pleasant here. To say the least, it's warm. Being carried to the hospital with only a slight cold, I'll probably be back with my outfit by the middle of the week.

We Mississippians have always said, "Thank God for South Carolina." Down through the generations the citizens of these two southern states have owed their existence primarily to agriculture. Now they are trying to balance agriculture with industry. Due to poor roads, a small per capita wealth, a high percentage of illiteracy and, we might add, a series of political demagogues, these states have been on the bottom of the list economically speaking. Southern states like these have a rather bright future to look forward to. They have been looked at as the nation's No. 1 economic problem. In reality they are the nation's No. 1 industrial possibility. With cheap labor and an abundance of raw material damn Yankees can not compete with the damn Rebels, or would you rather for me to say that the Rebels have decided advantages over the damn Yankees? "As you like it."

"You are all nuts, first sergeant. Why can't you put me on guard duty. I'm the battalion commander's orderly and anyway I do not know a thing about a rifle." Thus spoke Private Clark who went slowly walking to the guard post carrying his rifle as though it were a shotgun. Every time an officer passed, Clark threw his rifle away and gave the hand salute.

Wish to thank Mrs. Pendergrass for the delightful candy and dainty cookies. Gosh, they really hit the spot! More than that it made me feel swell to know that this kind lady was thinking of me.

Many of the soldiers here on duty have enjoyed the genuine hospitality that the people of the Carolinas seem to be so bountifully endowed with. Every soldier who attends church is invited out for dinner. Surely the people here have made good impressions on the men of the army; surely every soldier owes the civilians a profound debt of thanks. People like these are the salt of the earth, the bedrock of Americanism.

It is rather cold sleeping on the ground but when we think of it we know it could be a heck of a lot worse. Think of the Russians! The process of acclimation is just as important as learning to use firearms.

The 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions, making up a provisional corps with the 4th Corps which has as its components the 21st, 42nd, and 4th Motorized Divisions, will attempt to "blitz" Lt. Gen. Drum's 1st Army which outnumbered us 2 to 1. General Drum's army absorb the tremendous punch of this small but highly mechanized force?

Hitler And The Devil

(By our overseer, G. B. Terrell)

Hitler called the devil up on the telephone one day. The girl at central listened to all they had to say.

Hello she heard Hitler say, "Is old man satan home? Just tell him it's the dictator who wants him on the phone. The devil said "howdy" and Hitler "How are you?" I'm running a hell here on earth, so tell me what to do. "What can I do the devil said, "Dear old pal of mine?" It seems you don't need any help, you're doing fine. Yes I was doing very good until a while ago. When a man named Roosevelt wired me to go more slow.

He said to me, "Dear Hitler we don't want to be unkind but you have don't want to be unkind but you have nge your mind". I thought his lease lend bill was bluff and he would never get it through. But he soon put on the spot when he showed me what he could do. "Now that is why I called you satan". I need advice from you. "For I know that you will tell me just what I ought to do." My dear, there is not much left to tell, for Uncle Sam will make it hotter than I can here in hell. I have been a mean old devil but not half as mean as the minute that you get here the job is yours to do. I'll be ready for your coming and I'll have your room all ready when Sam Begins to fight. For I can see your days are numbered and there's nothing left to tell, so hang up your phone, get your act and meet me here in hell."

Authorized absence from duty in the U. S. Navy for any period less than 48 hours is known as "liberty." Absence authorized for a period longer than 48 hours is known as "leave."

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Must I pass any intelligence tests before I am accepted by the U. S. Navy? Yes. Among other requirements of the Navy you must take a written examination of one hundred questions and you will be permitted one hour to complete the examination. These questions are of a general nature and should be readily answerable by any intelligent young man.

What does the expression "To Shoot Charlie Noble" mean in the United States Navy? It means to clean the galley smokepipe of soot and dirt by firing a pistol therein.

What "Java" mean in the United States Navy? Java is one of the Navy's names for coffee—and the U. S. Navy uses more coffee than any other military or naval organization in the world.

How did "Aye, Aye" originate in the United States Navy? It is the old English for "Yes," taken from an expression used by sailors of the English Navy.

Can a recruit in the U. S. Navy or the Naval Reserve keep a camera on shipboard or at the Naval Training Station to which he is assigned? No. Cameras are contraband and so are jack-knives although new recruits will receive regulation Navy jack-knives shortly after their training periods begin.

State Socialism Versus Democracy

The following are extracts from a splendid speech, "State Socialism vs. Democracy," delivered by Hon. Walter Sillers of Rosedale at the Rotary Club on Armistice Day:

"So far as liberty and freedom are concerned, which have vanished from the continent of Europe, and the misery and suffering which prevails, the conditions are the same, except that the slaughter and destruction of life and property is a thousand fold greater today than in 1812 when Napoleon made his fatal error of marching against Russia.

"Were I called upon to name the enemy forces that threaten the peace and security, liberty and freedom of the world, I would say—Socialism in its various forms; which include Communism—Nazism—Fascism and Syndicalism, the doctrines of which are diametrically opposed to Democracy and Americanism.

"There is very little difference, so far as I have been able to ascertain, from the ultimate objectives of Socialism and Communism. The main principle of both is dictatorship with absolute authority in one man to direct the powers of government and rule over the destiny of the people.

"This has been done in America and the influence of the Communists in the Union is being manifested by the wholesale strikes throughout the nation. It is through the Labor Unions that the Communist Party expects to obtain their greatest force which will lead and make successful the overthrow of the government.

"The Communists, like the Nazis and Fascists believe and advocate that it is the duty of the government to support the people, and the right of the government to exact blind obedience from the people.

"The simplest and at the same time the most correct definition of Communism, Facism, and Nazism is that they all represent forms of dictatorship which deny the divine origin of the fundamental rights of man. Since all of these forms of dictatorship deny the divine origin of the rights of man, they assume and exercise the power to abridge or take away any or all of these rights as they see fit.

"In Germany, Italy, and Russia, the state is everything; the individual nothing. The people are puppets in the hands of the ruling dictators. Rights which we have come to regard as elementary, such as freedom in its seven-fold aspect, either do not exist or if they do exist to any degree are subject to the whims and caprice of the ruling dictators."

What would a composite picture of the average recruit in the U. S. Navy be like? The average recruit in the U. S. Navy would be an American citizen and the son of citizens. He would be nineteen and a half years of age, 5 feet 8.2 inches tall and would weigh approximately 145 pounds. The average education of all enlisted men in the Navy is three completed years of high school although a high school education is not required. The majority of enlisted men select naval aviation mechanics training as their first choice.

There are 35 Main Stations distributed through 5 Recruiting Divisions and 259 Recruiting Substations. If an applicant passes his preliminary examination at one of the Substations he is given credentials and told to report to one of the Main Stations in the large city nearest the Substation where he will be given a thorough medical examination. If an applicant is rejected at the Main Station he will be given his transportation back to the substation from which he started.

RED PEPPER CLUB

The Red Pepper Club met Thursday night at 7:30 in the home of Pauline Richardson. The room was decorated with beautiful flowers. As each member arrived they were presented with a corsage. The meeting was called to order by the President, Billie Guy Thomas and then discussed their business. Later the members enjoyed playing bridge. Mrs. Richardson served refreshments which consisted of sandwiches, cookies, potato chips, Coca-Cola and pickles.—Contributed.

Signal flags used by ships in the U. S. Navy are the result of the developments of several hundred years. Shapes, designs and colors are restricted to those easily distinguishable. At first the national flags of the ships were used. Later the flags of foreign countries were added. This use of foreign flags, particularly in emergency codes, was in vogue in the American and British Navies during the American Revolution. The earlier codes were very simple and contained only a few easily remembered signals. The flag used as a signal for battle is not of any particular known origin, but was one of the unwritten customs of the sea.

P. T. A. Holds November Meeting

The P. T. A. held its November meeting Thursday, November 13, in the High School auditorium. Mrs. Pleasant was Chairman of the program on Legislation.

Mrs. C. C. Richardson, president, presided. Mrs. King gave the secretary and Treasurer's report. She also read the report of a committee appointed to make "Rules for P. T. A. attendance and membership." These rules were voted on and approved. A letter of congratulation was received from the State President by the Grenada P. T. A. for surpassing its membership quota.

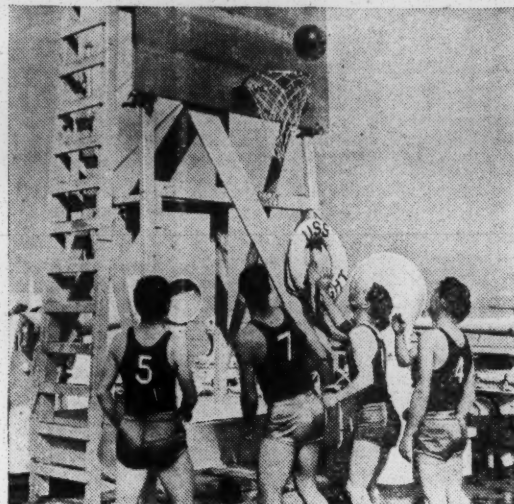

Mrs. Irvin Johnson reported that the first grade children have been examined for physical defects and that twelve who are seriously in need of medical attention and are unable to afford it will be doctored free.

Mr. Sam Simmons, Jr., Superintendent of Education in Grenada County, talked on "Federal Aid for Public Schools." Mr. Simmons spoke of the small amount of money for each child's education in the South in comparison to the large allowance in the North, East and West. The South has more children per family and less natural resources to tax. Mr. Simmons emphasized the fact that the most industrious of our youth are leaving the South for the big industrial centers and more money.

He stated that to equalize educational opportunities, the wealth would have to be taken from the wealthy sections and brought South. But the South hasn't enough Senators or Representatives to secure such an action. More money is needed in the South to educate its youth to meet the standards required in other parts of the country. Miss Estelle Turner read a clipping advocating putting negro teachers on the same salary level with white teachers of like training.

Mrs. Pleasant had invited Senator Wm. Winter to talk on a "Retirement Fund for Mississippi Teachers." Senator Winter was unable to attend, so Miss Turner read the speech that Mr. Rundle was giving at Jackson on that subject.

NAVY COURTMEN PRACTICE BASKETBALL ON SHIPBOARD

Perfect physical fitness is required of sailors in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve. Excellent athletic facilities are provided both afloat and ashore.

Pictured above are bluejackets on the aircraft tender U.S.S. Wright holding basketball practice on shipboard. Almost every ship in the U. S. Navy has its own basketball team. Rivalry among the crews of the various crafts runs high. In addition to basketball—football, baseball, boxing, bowling, wrestling and tennis all rank high as sports with Uncle Sam's sailors. Organized intra-ship competitions are held for most sports. Trophies and individual awards usually are presented to the championship winning teams and players.

factory workers through Social Security but has forgotten the teachers. The youth of our country needs the best instructions and it is for their good and to make more intelligent citizens that the Retirement Pension for Mississippi Teachers is needed.—Contributed.

Each student in America who has so many advantages in the home, school, and community, should give readily to the Red Cross. The money that is donated goes to the children in Europe who do not know it is to have a school to go to, or even a home where they can rest at night.

Bring your pennies and nickels to school and drop it in the box on Miss Hammond's desk. Each nickel and even each penny helps feed hungry, homeless children in war-torn Europe.

The Girl Reserves met at their regular semi-monthly meeting Thursday at the activity period. The program was opened by the singing of Girl Reserves Loyalty Song. Mary Lou Cullen read the scripture and gave a short talk on kindness. This talk and scripture served as the devotion.

STYLE HIT PARADE

Bennie Moore is the proud owner of a new pair of light brown trousers with a green stripe in them, and a suede cloth sweater to match the green in his trousers. Bennie looks just like a model in Esquire.

The bookkeeping students have been wearing red ink smeared on their fingers.

All the girls who have heart bracelets seemed to be doing all right. Most of them ought to know how to get hearts—they've been at it long enough. Beebe and Bert's new reversible coats are quite the thing. With just a "flick of the wrist" these coats can be changed from "cold weather" coats to rain coats.

Lynn Rose shares the spotlight with Bennie Moore this week for being the two best dressed boys. Lynn had a new tan tweed suit that makes him Marguerite Stanley, James Thomas and Laverne Wilson.

FORMER G. H. S. STUDENTS RECEIVE HONORS

Kenwright Named Class President
Charles Kenwright, Jr., former vice-president of the Senior Class of '41 at G. H. S., was elected president of the Freshman Class at Sunflower Junior College. Kenwright, a member of both the football and track teams, was outstanding in G. H. S. athletics. He was also salutatorian of his class, president of the National Honor Society, and a member of the Senior Play Cast. At Sunflower, he is a regular member of the football team and was on the honor roll for the first period of the year.

Katy Carlisle and Camilla Smith on College News Staff

Kathleen Carlisle has been placed on the newspaper staff at Wood Junior College. "Katy" was co-editor of the 1940-41 Bulldog, a member of the Girl Reserves, of the Senior Play Cast, and the Honor Society, and took active part in numerous other campus activities.

Camilla Smith, has been made photography editor of the same newspaper. Camilla, on the basketball, tennis, and track squads, was also a Girl Reserve and in the Senior Play.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S DRIVE

Once again the students in all the schools are asked to make dime donations for the crippled children's fund. Even since the first drive for crippled children, Grenada City Schools have always cooperated to their fullest extent. This drive is always around Thanksgiving time because then we are reminded of our blessings and should be eager to help those children who are crippled.

Bring your dimes to school with you, if you have not done so. What if you do have to give up a chocolate soda after school? Your denial of this luxury to yourself will help some child that is less fortunate than you.

CHAPEL

Since Armistice Day came on Tuesday, the chapel program was given then instead of on Wednesday. The program was opened by the song, "God Bless America". Mr. Rundle read for the scripture two verses from Isaiah.

Mrs. Hathorn's students gave short talks on the subject "The American Flag". The students who prepared on the program were: Lucy Moss, Anne Odom, Anne Duncan, Warren Robinson, Mary Lou Cullen, Louise Aven.

John Keeton in Debating Squad and Orchestra

John (Poor) Keeton, has recently become a member of the Debate squad at the University of Mississippi, and of the "Collegians", a campus dance orchestra. "Poor" was president of the G. H. S. Band, a member of the Bulldog Staff of '41, a member of the state-champion debating team, and in the Senior Play.

WINTER AND SEMMES EXCHANGE WITTY LETTERS

Two very outstanding graduates of G. H. S., Billy Semmes, of Mississippi State, and William Winter, of Ole Miss, correspond weekly through their respective school papers. Winter writes as a backward boy from Pea Ridge, engulfed by the "city-slickers" at the University. Semmes retaliates as a farm-hand from "Cow College". The letters printed in the Redefactor State College newspaper, are a feature to which G. H. S. pupils eagerly look forward.

In G. H. S., Semmes was editor of the Bulldog of 1940-41, a member of the Yearbook staff, the Speech Class and the Senior Play Cast.

Winter was president of his class for three years. He was a member of the Yearbook staff, the debate team, and the Senior Play Cast. He was president of the Honor Society; he represented the school in Declamation; and he was valedictorian of his class.

MOVIE STAR JOINS U.S. NAVY

Ensign Wayne Morris Seeks Wings

Wayne Morris, recent star of "I Wanted Wings," became a member of Uncle Sam's Navy in May, 1941, when he was appointed to the rank of Ensign.

When asked what he thought of the United States Navy, Morris said, "I think every man who is considering joining a military service should look into the 'chance of a lifetime' which the Navy and Naval Reserve offer to get into the big-pay field of the future—aviation. In the Navy you can attend the finest flight training schools in the world, and receive instruction from Navy pilots who introduced dive bombing, aircraft carriers and catapult take-offs to the rest of the world. Also, there are opportunities in Naval Aviation for men who don't want to fly. They can be trained as aviation machinists, metalsmiths, photographers, observers, or they can receive instruction in many other trades. It's a great life in the Navy." Ensign Wayne Morris is pictured here in his line of duty as a member of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board at the Long Beach Naval Reserve Air Base.

MISSISSIPPI'S MOBILIZATION

As Mississippi mobilizes, every phase of state activity is being stepped up to meet home and national defense demands. Industries are running around the clock to fill defense orders — business is reaching a high tempo — army bases and ordnance plants continue "bee hives" of activity — even home routine moves at a new pace as home defense and civilian morale grows.

Each of these activities is a cog in our mobilization. And Mississippi Power & Light Service is a key cog — providing the dependable electric power and natural gas so necessary to keep every cog humming faster and faster! Mississippi Power & Light Company, like all free enterprise American business, is geared to meet the expanding and vital needs of the hour.
